AFFIDAVIT

The undersigned, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

I, ROBERT G. SMITH, am employed by the Army Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) at Maxwell Air Force Base as a store detective. On or about 22 December 2006, I was notified by an AAFES cashier that a woman at her register, #8, had an item of cosmetics in her purse with the electronic security device on it. I put a camera on the woman in question and on a couple of times I could see the box in her purse. At the end of the transaction, the cashier had rung up several items but not the cosmetics. The woman, who was later identified to be DANA CONDON, wife off a retired Army Colonel, left the register at central checkout and went to customer service to get a Military Star Credit Card. She left her daughters at central checkout to complete the buying of the other items. While waiting for service at Customer Service, CONDON took an AAFES bag, and put two boxes into it. They were Queen Anne chocolates; value $1.09 each for a total of $2.18. Though CONDON got her Star Card at a cash register, she never made any attempt to pay for the two items. After she got her Star Card transaction completed, CONDON walked to the front of the exchange and directly out the door. She set off the electronic alarm, but ignored the I.D. checker who called to her. I detained CONDON in the automatic doors going outside. CONDON was identified and escorted to the security office. CONDON was very uncooperative and even called me a jerk for "embarrassing" her. Security Forces was called and responded. While waiting for Security Forces' arrival, CONDON took the cosmetics out of her purse and stated it was not hers and it was "foreign" to her. The cosmetic item was a box of Estee Lauder Perfectionist Correcting Concentrate, a value of $29.75. The total value of all three items is $31.93. CONDON was transported to the Law Enforcement Desk for further processing.
